

CHET

Certificate in Higher Education Teaching

The ENHANCE Certificate in Higher Education Teaching (CHET) is a flexible professional-development programme offered within the ENHANCE Alliance. It supports academic staff in developing high-quality, innovative, and internationally informed teaching practices.

About the Programme

CHET is designed for academic teachers from all disciplines and career stages. It fosters continuous professional development by combining theoretical foundations with practical teaching skills and promotes student-centred, research-informed, and digitally supported teaching approaches.

The programme offers a diverse portfolio of courses delivered onsite, online, or in blended formats across ENHANCE partner universities, including MOOCs. Participants may learn at their home institution, during mobility periods, or fully online, while exchanging experience with colleagues from across Europe.

What to expect from CHET

CHET empowers academic teachers to enhance and expand their pedagogical competencies while engaging with colleagues from leading European universities. Participants choose from a broad portfolio of courses focusing on student-centred learning, advanced pedagogical development, innovative teaching methods, and digital and blended learning. Courses are delivered onsite, online, or in blended formats across ENHANCE partner universities, including virtual and MOOC-based options.

Completing CHET provides formal recognition of teaching competencies and can support recruitment, career progression, and funding applications. Beyond certification, the programme offers opportunities to exchange teaching practices, strengthen international networks, and improve teaching quality, while fostering personal motivation and professional satisfaction.

Who Is CHET For?

CHET is open to academic teachers at all career stages, including doctoral candidates, early-career researchers, newly appointed staff, experienced professors, and adjunct teaching staff from industry or self-employment.
